Dean Cross (NSW)	Alasdair McLuckie (VIC)	Nicola Smith (NSW)
Zaachariaha Fielding (SA)	Hayley Millar Baker (VIC)	Kasia Tons (SA)

More than 350 artists under the age of forty submitted entries for the Ramsay Art Prize 2021. The selected finalists have created compelling works of art that probe society today using a variety of mediums. This year's finalists were selected by a judging panel of contemporary art specialists comprised of Wiradjuri artist Karla Dickens, Dr Daniel Mudie Cunningham, Director of Programs at Carriageworks and Rebecca Evans, Curator of Decorative Arts & Design at AGSA.

AGSA Director, Rhana Devenport ONZM, says, 'We are thrilled to present contemporary talent from every state and territory for the first time in the third iteration of the Ramsay Art Prize. AGSA continues its championing of contemporary art practice in this exhibition that celebrates the energetic pulse of artistic practice in Australia right now.'

James & Diana Ramsay Foundation Executive Director, Kerry de Lorme, says, 'The Ramsay Art Prize embodies the James & Diana Ramsay Foundation's values, offering career-defining opportunities to artists and bringing new art to audiences at AGSA, thanks to the generous legacy of visionaries, James and Diana.'

All works selected as finalists will be exhibited in a major exhibition at AGSA from 22 May until 22 August 2021. The winner will be judged from the exhibition and announced to the finalists and media at a media preview on Friday 21 May 2021. The winning work will also be acquired into AGSA's collection.

The Ramsay Art Prize 2021 finalist exhibition will include a People's Choice Prize supported by sponsor Lipman Karas. The People's Choice Prize is a non-acquisitive cash prize of $15,000 chosen by a public vote and announced on Friday 13 August 2021.
